SCHNETZ LANDSCAPE, INC.

Oftentimes, the true reflection of a homeowner's lifestyle hides peacefully in his or her own backyard. Billy Schnetz, second-generation purveyor of fine gardens, understands the importance of unlocking this hidden potential. Rooted in a family tradition of horticulture, outdoor living and entertaining, the Schnetz team extends a personal, friendly approach to the design-and-build process while adhering to professional guidelines without sacrificing the desires of its clients. But, it is the nurturing process and continual garden care that makes all the difference in the world. "We offer a service that both nurtures the garden and the client's needs to ensure that our gardens thrive as they were intended to, well into the future," Schnetz adds. This additional service not only tends to the health of each project's future, it also harvests lifelong client relationships—and Schnetz wouldn't have it any other way.

*"We create gardens that dazzle the eye
and nurture the soul."*

How do you define a successful project?

Success comes when a client calls and says how much they love living in their garden.

What are the key influences in your work today?

The simple things in life. People, places and the stories in between.

How do you think your clients would characterize you?

The entire team is personable and professional. Our naturally casual approach maintains a friendly client relationship based on communication and understanding.

FEATURES: Once an overgrown valley, this estate meadow offers many wandering pathways and includes old-fashioned plantings with a blend of perennials, grasses and bulbs in full spring bloom—all the necessary elements to please the senses.

FEATURES: By using a variety of drought-tolerant plants and with the absence of a lawn, this San Diego garden provides ample space for entertaining or playing outdoors.
